King Arthur's Labyrinth is an underground journey by boat and foot through the old slate workings which have been made into a theatrical experience to tell stories of King Arthur and other ancient legends.

It is best to view the operators own web site at www.kingarthurslabyrinth.com. Or phone 01654 761584.

It is also possible to have longer trips underground with Corris Mine Explorers which operate from the same site. You can go underground on a one and half hour trip or a half day trip. Details on www.corrismineexplorers.co.uk. Or phone 01654 761244.

King Arthur's Labyrinth is on the west side of the A487 that runs from Dolgellau to Machynlleth. Turn off the road between Corris Uchaf and the side road down to Corris itself. It is well marked. Corris Craft Centre is at the same location.
